

The 2021 International Student Competition on Architectural Design and Digital Modelling

To promote the international communication of students, especially in the pandemic situation, the 2021 International Student Competition on Architectural Design and Digital Modelling will be organized by Beijing University of Civil Engineering and Architecture (BUCEA). The theme of the competition will be 'Resilience: To Recreate the Glamour of Canals', focusing on the renewal planning and sustainable development of the old towns along famous canals of the world. The 3 categories of the competition will be Architectural Design, Structural Design, and Building and Space 3D Modelling. The International Photography Competition on Historic Canal Towns Along the Belt and Road will be held at the same time, as part of the event.

Participants of the registration-fee-free design competition should be full time students. Submissions will be reviewed by an international jury and will be awarded in October, in Mostar, Bosnia and Herzegovina, during the annual meeting of the Belt and Road Architectural University International Consortium (BRAUIC, initiated by BUCEA). The event will be supported by UNESCO, ISPRS and other academic organizations, and co-sponsored by the Beijing International Peace Culture Foundation, Beijing Peace Garden Museum.
