SkyTech 2015 UAV Conference & Exhibition

24th April 2015, Business Design Centre, Islington

SkyTech 2015 is the latest addition to the UAV industry calendar. SkyTech is a one-day conference and exhibition serving as a platform to define, understand and ultimately integrate UAVs into the commercial sector. SkyTech is completely free to attend and will bring together 60 exhibitors, 40 speakers and over 1000 attendees from a range of targeted industries. Leading manufacturers, component suppliers, software companies, service providers, charities, existing & prospective end users, UAV associations and academics will come together at this UAV marketplace to provide updates on the latest technology, showcase industry products, and drive forward innovation within the commercial UAV sector.

SkyTech includes 3 zones. Zones 1 & 2 both include a conference and exhibition, whilst Zone 3 features an exhibition and case study seminar sessions.

Zone 1: Technology & Legislation

Our Technology & Legislation Zone will provide the essential information required to get to grips with UAVs, best practice for UAV usage, the latest updates on legislation, software and the technology itself.

Zone 2: Agriculture & Environment

The Agriculture & Environment Zone will shed light upon the endless opportunities for UAVs within this sector, incorporating everything from precision agriculture and 3D mapping, to disaster relief and animal conservation.

Zone 3: Applications

The Applications Zone is our case study hub. Discover the latest uses for UAVs across a range of sectors including oil & gas, search & rescue, policing, fire service, security, construction, infrastructure, delivery, photography and filming.

With key changes to the industry taking place over the coming months SkyTech aims to provide knowledge transfer, facilitate partnerships and provide a forum to navigate the most complex debates emerging out of the industry. SkyTech is working closely with the Civil Aviation Authority and many of the UAV associations across the globe in order to bring together the key figures within the commercial UAV industry. SkyTech is the key industry event for anyone involved in the commercial UAV industry.

To register for the free exhibition, conferences or seminars visit the website www.skytechevent.com

Conference and seminar places are limited! Register now to secure your free tickets.