Method Description for Vaihingen:

2D Labeling Challenge

Yuehan Yu
Institution of Software, Chinese Academy of Science
May, 2018

Resnet50 is used as base network, with multiple dilated convolution layers working as decoder, which is inspired by Deeplabv3. Data augmentation is employed to mitigate the effect of overfitting. Only IRRG images are used for training. Before predicting, model was trained with 16 images altogether.