

SkyTech 2015 UAV Conference & Exhibition

Skytech 2015 is a one-day event serving as a platform to define, understand and ultimately integrate UAVs into the commercial sector. The event includes a free exhibition and four conferences. Our Universal Conference will consider everything from legislation and market trends, to the tech itself, whilst our 3 other conferences will cover the key UAV industries: Agriculture & Environment, Media and the Public Sector. SkyTech will bring together over 40 speakers, with focus sessions covering topics such as remote sensing and photogrammetry.

The event will explore current capabilities and future applications for UAVs, bringing together 60 exhibitors and in excess of 1000 attendees. Existing and prospective UAV end users will meet with service providers and manufacturers, with the aim of expanding this nascent industry.

SkyTech is also offering free conference tickets for UAV End Users. If you are looking to integrate UAVs into your business model or would like to learn more about how drones can be used within the commercial sector register now at our website www.skytechevent.com. Limited numbers available.
