

ISPRS Geospatial Week 2019 draft programme online!

Dear colleagues,

Within less than two months we'll be happy to welcome you at the University of Twente, Enschede, the Netherlands for participation in the ISPRS Geospatial Week 2019. For 10 till 14 June a full programme with thirteen workshops has been prepared.

ISPRS Geospatial Week Programme

The draft programme of the ISPRS Geospatial Week with details on most sessions is now online! Details for the remaining sessions will be added in the next few days. Four tutorials will be offered on Sunday, 9 June. The two deep learning tutorials are booked out.

Registration

Already 600 participants from over 50 countries registered. If you would like to participate as well, please create your ConfTool account, log in, and select the participant registration. All registration options can be found here. Information on the Geospatial Week dinners is provided here.

Hotels

Please be reminded to book your hotel room in time! Hotel De Broeierd is booked out. Some other hotels are almost booked out. Details on all hotels are provided here. Rooms will be reserved for us until 26 April. Hotel rooms may be booked out soon after our reservation expired because of the Whit-Monday public holiday.

We're looking forward to your participation in the ISPRS Geospatial Week 2019!

On behalf of the local organising committee and all workshop convenors,

George Vosselman

Geospatial Week Director
