

Experience at GSW 2019

I attended GSW2019 for four days and presented my research paper. My general impressions have been good, I arrived on Tuesday and the treatment was very kind and I was well received by the organization. The installations where the congress was held were technologically perfect and very comfortable. The technical staff was very attentive and always available to offer help. The organization has been splendid from beginning to end. Special mention for the catering service, whose food pleasantly livened up the breaks between sessions.

Although I presented a paper in Indoor3D, my field of study focuses more on laser scanning. In this area, I was able to attend numerous presentations and have the opportunity to speak with many great researchers who were exhibiting their posters. I was able to get to know firsthand the state of the art and the objectives of each author. It was also very interesting to see how they approached and solved the same problems I had from a different point of view. I consider that I established good relations with many researchers, and that the door was opened to possible collaborations in the future. I have also been able to attend other works outside my research area, which I considered interesting and which allow to migrate ideas and methodologies between the different topics.

I hope to be able to attend the next workshops in the future, without a doubt it is a very enriching experience as a researcher. Finally, I would like to thank the ISPRS Foundation for their help in my displacement and attending the Congress.
